

ESANS Consultation:
Non-Essential Pesticide Ban Discussion Paper (NS Environment)

Nova Scotia Environment has issued a Discussion Paper regarding a potential limited provincial pesticide ban, and has invited comment. A copy is available from the ESANS website.

ESANS provides opportunities for interested members to consider, converse, and ultimately contribute to consultations and similar interactions with the provincial government and others. The intent of this service is to provide a catalyst and useful economies of scale, for member interactions with government. The results are intended to be respected contributions to the consultation process, from members of the environmental service provider community.

Potentially interested ESANS member representatives are invited to review the discussion paper, attend a February 16, 2010 meeting, and if they choose, contribute to an ESANS response document to Nova Scotia Environment.

The consultation process is scheduled to be completed by March 7, 2010.

Please indicate your interest in participating with an email to Government@ESANS.ca
Your responses will influence the meeting room location.
